KEEP DIALED . . .

Contact has just been established with the tiny speck in our huge orbit commonly called earth. The mission was accomplished by Commander ZZZT! If these Earth Beings seem stupid, you keep in mind that their civilization is millions of light years behind ours.

I, Commander ZZZT!, have arrived on Earth.

Stepping out of the ship, I saw a strange looking group of spectators. I learned later that they were examples of the ruling animals on earth. I learned from markings on the large brick structure, that we had landed on the grounds of N. R. Crozier Technical High School. This is either an institution for juvenile delinquents or an insane asylum. At first the representatives of the institution were cautious, but we soon won their confidence. They agreed to conduct us through this — "school" they call it.

We will transmit what we see back to you.

If these are typical creatures of earth I strongly advise that all hope of colonizing earth be abandoned.

Respectfully,
COMMANDER ZZZT!

I discovered that the governing animals of Crozier Tech are called executives, a stupid Earth term derived from the word "executioner." The purpose of these beings is to enforce stupid laws which they themselves don't obey.

To My Friends in the N. R. Crozier Technical High School:

No day is like "Wolf Pack" Day to the students at N. R. Crozier. Having known the joy of helping publish an annual when I, myself, was a high-school senior, I recognize the thrill which all of you are receiving today as you open your books, look at the pictures, read about school life during 1952-53, and get the autographs of your teachers and other friends.

This is especially a red-letter day for seniors. A year from now you will be remembering today with both pride and pleasure. As you close out your high-school careers next June 5, you take with you the kind memories and fond wishes of your principal, your teachers, and your fellows in the school. May I join them in wishing you well.

Sincerely yours,

W. T. White

To the Seniors:

Sooooo....o you are graduating from High School!

This simple expression can carry many different connotations. Surprise, amazement and wonder are registered that such small heads can hold so much.

Encouragement is included. All that stands between you and the top of the ladder of success is the ladder.

A note of warning is there, too. "It doesn't hurt a person to graduate provided he is willing to learn a little something after he graduates." The pupils who worked so hard to graduate will often wonder what the hurry was.

We may be excused a note of pride in our own work as teachers. You had become educated and learned something in spite of everything we have tried to do for you. (We feel like the rooster who thinks that the sun comes up because he crows.)

Consolation creeps into our voices as we try to ease your promotion to the school of experience for post-graduate work, the school of hard knocks, as it is called.

We include the hope that you may always be as happy and successful and servicable to your fellowman as you so fondly expect to be.

SENIORS

These animals are in their last year at "school." They have acquired much valuable knowledge such as how to dance, how to play football, and how to make weird noises on horns. From here they will go their various ways in the world, some choosing one way to waste their lives, others not choosing, just wasting.

I found that certain humans who are capable of knocking their heads together are chosen on teams. In these activities they use objects made of skins of pigs, horses, cows and other higher forms of life.

TECH MENTORS

Of last year's coaching staff, pictured above, only one, Coach Stultz, will be with the Battling Wolves for the 1953 season.

The Head Coach, Darrell Tully, and the Line Coach, Joe Pasqua, have accepted jobs at Ball High of Galveston.

Rex Stultz, the successor as head mentor, has been on the Tech coaching staff for seven years as assistant coach.

He is a student of the game who is well-qualified to lead the Wolves in the coming seasons. His personal integrity, knowledge of the game, success in handling boys, and habit of working hard will aid him much in his new post.

Tech High joins hands in wishing Coach Stultz the best in the coming seasons. May all his teams be winners; but if, they are not, we know that the boys who play under his directing will derive from the game values more precious than winning, the attitudes and habits from which men are made.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT ASSOCIATION

The purpose of our Student Government Association is to make CROZIER TECH a better school through student participation in school affairs.

We strictly believe in the democratic principles and try to adhere to the policies in all decisions made.

We believe in learning by doing.

We believe in student control rather than teacher patrol.

We believe that if we can make every student feel important at TECH HIGH we will have a better student body. The slogan of our Association is; "TECH, WHERE EVERYBODY IS SOMEBODY."
